Experience/Representative Client Work

Cannon has been recognized as one of Wisconsin's most prominent trial and appellate attorneys for more than four decades. Career highlights include:

- A Wisconsin Law Journal article portraying Cannon as a modest “superhero” for his legal work on behalf of Milwaukee’s poor and disabled. (August 30, 2006)
- A Milwaukee Journal account of a highly-publicized jury trial describing Cannon as “a bulldog attorney” for his cross-examination of a powerful corporate executive, noting that, “as Cannon sharply interrogated [the witness], the normally articulate business wizard was reduced to stammering.” (December 22, 1994)
- A Milwaukee Magazine feature on another of Cannon’s celebrated trials praised his “skilled lawyer’s dispassionate” handling of “the biggest Wisconsin civil case of the decade.” (The five-and-a-half-month trial involved a successful struggle for control of the world’s largest religious foundation. (October 1993)
- A Milwaukee Sentinel profile likened Cannon’s courtroom presence to “a low-key lightning bolt.” The article highlighted Cannon’s receipt —just five years out of law school—of his first Lawyer of the Year award. (April 16, 1976)
- In 1998, the Wisconsin Supreme Court appointed Cannon to represent a Circuit Court judge in a case concerning the legal authority of judges to impose sanctions on attorneys. Anderson v. Circuit Court, 219 Wis.2d 1, 578 N.W.2d 633. (1998)
- In 1997, a panel of senior judges selected Cannon to represent the state’s 250 Circuit Court judges in a Wisconsin Supreme Court case defining the constitutional power of trial judges. Barland v. Eau Claire County, 216 Wis.2d 559, 575 N.W.2d 691. (1998)
- The Chief Judge of Milwaukee County appointed Cannon to represent all Milwaukee judges in complex litigation involving under-funding of the judicial branch of government. “Lawyer says courts can order funds” in Milwaukee Sentinel. (February 4, 1991)
- Cannon served as a professor of constitutional law and legal ethics at Marquette University Law School. (1981–1985)
- Cannon has held the Martindale-Hubbell Law Directory’s highest peer-reviewed rating for legal ability and ethical behavior since 1980.

Awards/Distinctions

- Wisconsin Supreme Court Chief Justice Nathan Heffernan described a brief written by Cannon as “the best brief I’ve ever read.” Remarks to Milwaukee Bar Association Annual Dinner. (1991)
- Chief Judge Patrick Sheedy characterized the same Cannon brief as “an absolutely superb job.” (Milwaukee Sentinel, February 4, 1991)

- Lifetime Achievement Award by the Wisconsin Equal Justice Fund. (2011)
- Leader in the Law Award by the Wisconsin Law Journal. (2010)
- Martindale-Hubbell® Peer Review Rating™—AV Preeminent, reflecting an attorney who has reached the height of professional excellence and is recognized for the highest levels of skill and integrity.
